

Subscribe now to Crescent International for a truly unique Islamic movement perspective on current affairs...

Virtually every major news story in the world today concerns Muslims, but the news we read is from a western perspective...

Crescent International discusses current affairs from the perspective on the global Islamic movement, rather than any particular group within it...

What is more, we also discuss the Islamic movement itself, and key issues concerning the movement – unity, sectarianism, nationalism, democracy, political understanding and methodology, khilafah and imamah, the nature of Islamic government, Islamic society and the Islamic state – all from a broad Islamic perspective...

For over twenty years, our unique analysis of contemporary history has been based on the contributions of leading Islamic movement activists, intellectuals and commentators from all over the world...

You may not agree with everything we say – but at the very least, we guarantee to make you think about contemporary Muslim and world history in a way you never have before...
